Hopper Wins Flu Shot Contest

Hopper Primary School was recently announced as a winner in the Cold and Flu Shot Contest, sponsored by Texas Children's Health Plans, by having the highest percentage of students immunized. Twenty school districts participated, and there was one winner in each district.

"The contest was to see how many students would get cold and flu shots," said Adam Ybarra, community relations specialist for Texas Children's Health Plans. "Twenty three students at this school had the shots, and since the contest ended, more have gotten shots. Maybe we've started a movement to get them informed, get them vaccinated and keep them happy and healthy."

Hopper nurse Norma Brindza kept track of the forms students brought in from their doctors, verifying they had received the immunization. The students who were immunized were recognized at an assembly and presented with a t-shirt from Texas Children's Health Plans. The entire school enjoyed a pizza and drink party.

D'Chaun Rodgers, a kindergarten student in Karen McGlothlin's class at Hopper Primary, enjoys the pizza party the school received as a result of winning the Texas Children's Health Plans Cold and Flu Shot Contest.
