

GOOSE CREEK

CONSOLIDATED INDEPENDENT SCHOOL DISTRICT

Annual GCCISD Reach Out Walk a great success

More than 180 community and Goose Creek CISD volunteers donned lime green Reach Out Walk shirts and braved rainy weather to assist the District with recovering students who had not returned to school or needed encouragement to become successful graduates.

The event began at Ross S. Sterling High School with breakfast and training for all participants before the teams of participants headed out to visit with students and offer assistance and resources to help them return to school.

Volunteers also visited students who had excessive absences for the 2012-2013 school year in an attempt to be proactive by ensuring that they have the resources they need to keep them from missing school.

Dr. Precious Reimonenq, coordinator of college and career readiness, headed up the project, assisted by Claudine Berman and Suzanne Alimena.

Social workers, along with junior school and high school counselors, visited numerous homes before the Reach Out Walk to recover as many students as possible.

Other campus personnel, working to provide as much information as possible as to the location of the students, found that some had moved to another District, and we had not gotten notification from the student's new school.

Of the 460 students who were no-shows the first week of school, only 75 students from grades 7 – 12 had not been located after the Reach Out Walk.

"We appreciate all of the community and District volunteers who came out in the rain to help identify students and get them the assistance they need to return to school and successfully graduate," said Dr. Reimonenq.
