McDonald's Literacy Event at Hopper Primary

McDonald's donated books to pre-kindergarten student at Hopper Primary School as part of a project to support literacy in schools.

Orlando Montan from Aramark Education organized the event. Kristie Smith from McDonald's, along with Abner Casas and Laura Casey, McDonald's owners/operators, brought the books to the campus and assisted with reading and passing them out to students.

Natalie Edwards, school nutrition services director for GCCISD, and her team also assisted with the books. They brought Ace the Fox, their mascot, to join in the festivities.

Dr. Salvador Cavazos, GCCISD superintendent, and Dr. Melissa Duarte, assistant superintendent for curriculum and instruction, read books to the students.

Pre-kindergarten students at the elementary campuses also will receive books.

Dr. Melissa Duarte, Goose Creek CISD's assistant superintendent for curriculum and instruction, enjoys talking to Hopper Primary School pre-kindergarten students after reading a book to them.
