CONSOLIDATED INDEPENDENT SCHOOL DISTRICT

Stuart Career Center car show a success

Goose Creek CISD's John M. Stuart Career Center hosted its second annual car show and open house on March 31.

The school's car show entries in multiple categories — including Pre '50s, classic '50s and '60s, muscle cars, rat rods, low riders, trucks, under 21, an open class, imports and more — and plaques were awarded to the winners.

Students at Stuart Career Center are offered courses in auto technology, auto body repair, computer technology, culinary arts, meat processing, robotics, ATV and marine small engine repair and carpentry construction technology, business, landscape design, and more.

It is the mission of John M. Stuart Career Center to provide an education that allows all students the opportunity to apply academic skills in a vocational technical setting.
