

Goose Creek CISD hearing on redistricting plan postponed

The Goose Creek Consolidated Independent School District Board of Trustees is postponing a public hearing regarding the proposed single-member Board of Trustees redistricting plan for the district. The date of the hearing will be made in the near future.

The new districts are for school board representation, not school attendance zones.

The maps of the proposed districts on the Goose Creek CISD website and displayed at central office were inaccurate. New maps will be re-posted as soon as possible.

By law, government bodies including school boards, county commissions and state legislatures, must redraw their lines when new Census figures come out. They also must ensure that there is appropriate minority representation.
