Goose Creek CISD names new principals

Goose Creek Superintendent of Schools Toby York announces the new principals of Alamo Elementary, De Zavala Elementary, and Harlem Elementary for the 2010-2011 school year. Ron Wyatt has been named the new principal of Alamo Elementary along with Precious Reimonenq, De Zavala Elementary, and Stephen Matthew Warford, Harlem Elementary.

Ron Wyatt has been with Goose Creek for four years where he has served as assistant principal of Alamo Elementary. Before coming to Goose Creek, Wyatt was an English as a Second Language teacher for New Caney ISD. Wyatt will replace Ruth Perrin, who will move to Highlands Elementary as the new principal beginning with the 2010-2011 school year.

Precious Reimonenq began her career in Goose Creek 11 years ago where she taught at Hopper Primary and then Harlem Elementary. Reimonenq has also served as the Dyslexia Specialist and Peer Facilitator of Harlem Elementary. She currently serves as the assistant principal of De Zavala Elementary and has been there for the past four years.

Reimonenq will replace Robin Stoerner following her retirement at the end of the 2009-2010 school year.

Stephen Matthew Warford has been with Goose Creek for five years where he has served as a teacher at Pumphrey Elementary and family involvement coordinator at Highlands Elementary. Warford served as assistant principal of Pumphrey Elementary until the school was closed in 2009. Warford is currently the assistant principal of Carver Elementary. He will fill the principal vacancy at Harlem Elementary left by Michael Wahl, who will become the new principal of Baytown Junior School.

"I am very pleased that we have such a talented group of current Goose Creek assistant principals to fill these three principal positions. This speaks well, not only for these individuals, but for the principals who have served as their mentors. I look forward to great things in the future from these three exceptional educators," says Goose Creek Superintendent of Schools Dr. Toby York.
