Introducing the new

SCTHS

Stuart Career Tech High School

Preparing students for high skill, high wage, high demand careers.

SCTHS is an application-based high school that will combine rigorous career and technical coursework with core curriculum classes on a single campus. Students will receive hands-on, project-based instruction in one of the four academy career pathways. The goal is for students to earn college credit and industry certifications in partnership with Lee College. Students are prepared for finishing their associate and/or baccalaureate degree education or entry-level occupations.

Students will have the opportunity participate in intramural activities, events specific to SCTHS and participate in SkillsUSA and FFA leadership activities and career competitions. Students attending Stuart Career Tech HS will not have an opportunity to participate in traditional campus athletics or fine arts that are available on traditional high school campuses.

Students must complete the full application process in January to be considered for an academy.

The four academies will open in the
